

AFTER DINNER SPEAKERS

Steve Mills International Motivational Speaker (BE YOUR BEST)

Steve Mills is a former international sportsman turned business entrepreneur and professional peak performance speaker.

He believes in achieving outstanding results and he understands the importance of continual self development and personal growth. Steve thrives on helping others to identify how to embrace change and to accept the spirit of challenge in order to achieve their best.

Steve has used his experience as an international sportsman to transfer his knowledge and skills into personal and business development tools. His talks give the audience an insight into how a personal or organisational development 'Toolkit' can help them to achieve outstanding results.

Steve's determination and resolve served him well when he ran a successful business for over a decade. During this period of time, he helped hundreds of individuals and businesses to grow and achieve results that they had, up until then, not realised possible.

Steve now enjoys being a speaker, author and coach, delivering his message to audiences all over the world.

Inspirational, challenging, real and humorous, Steve will awaken the spirit within any audience and encourage a voyage of self discovery and personal growth. He will challenge every individual to ask questions that will enable them to 'Be their Best'.
